Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and heart rate reserve (HRR) of sedentary middle-aged men. The subjects were randomly divided into two groups: a control group and an exercise group. The control group was instructed to maintain their current level of physical activity, while the exercise group was instructed to perform a 10-week training program consisting of three sessions per week of 30 minutes of moderate-intensity aerobic exercise. The HR and HRR were measured at rest and during maximal exercise at baseline and at the end of the 10-week training program. The results showed that the exercise group had a significant decrease in HR and HRR at rest and during maximal exercise compared to the control group. These findings suggest that a 10-week training program can improve cardiovascular fitness in sedentary middle-aged men.

The following Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 19th September 1898:—

L.V. BILL, No. 42 OF 1898.

A Bill to amend the Indian Carriage by Air Act, 1884, for a certain purpose.

Enacted, That it is expedient to amend the Indian Carriage by Air Act, 1884, for the purpose hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act may be cited the Indian Carriage by Air (Amendment) Act, 1898.

2. In section 2 of the Indian Carriage by Air Act, 1884, after paragraph (a) of the following sub-section shall be inserted namely:—

"(B) any vehicle in the Port Schedule in which the number of passengers is increased by including a vehicle as described in the margin."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

In the translation of the Convention for the protection of vessels under the International Convention by Act, signed at Warsaw on the 19th October 1855, the French word "passagers" was translated as "persons." It was subsequently agreed that a better translation of the word would be "occupants of the vessel" and that expression was used in the translation of "passagers" in the official translation of the Convention for the protection of certain ships (not signed) entered into at London on the 24th May 1861. The Indian Carriage by Air Act, 1884, amends the Port Schedule in the provisions of the Warsaw Convention, and it is now proposed to make it clear that reference to "passagers" in that Schedule include reference to "occupants."

MR. RAFF,
Secretary to the Government of India.

(Published by order of His Excellency the Governor)

F. APPE SAIR,
Secretary to Government, Legal Department.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill is submitted for special measures to remove the public safety and interest and the defence of British India and for the trial of certain offences was presented to the Legislative Assembly on the 12th September 1926.—

We, the undersigned members of the Select Committee by which the Bill is specially for special measures to remove the public safety and interest and the defence of British India and for the trial of certain offences was referred, have considered the Bill and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us selected therein.

3. Clause 2 (2)—In paragraph (a) we propose an amendment to prevent subject being given to a person in his capacity or class of his family. In paragraph (b) and (c) we propose for the exception of retrospective children, and in the latter paragraph addition to the word "line" explanation to be given to persons of family and blood. In paragraph (d) we amend the expression to include commission as we consider this is covered by the intention of the paragraph. We have amended by (a) amended paragraph (d) (b) (c) (d) as we have previously submitted the power to refuse to use subjected to persons the public safety and the nation.

In sub-clause (1) and (2) of clause 2 we propose small amendments to permit of persons to be retained in certain cases, for example to permit mitigation, which cannot properly be regarded as being admissible to Government.

Clause 2.—We have moved sub-clause (2) as possible that at least one member of a Tribunal shall be qualified to be a High Court Judge and that another shall have exercised during the specified period exclusively judicial power.

Clause 3.—In specifying the offences which may be tried by Special Tribunals we have preferred the classification of the corresponding 1925 Act.

Clause 10.—We consider that the provision of sub-clause (2) should not operate until the accused person has appeared before the Tribunal.

Clause 11.—We provide for an appeal in the case of a person sentenced to death or transportation.

Clause 12.—We supply a small omission in sub-clause 11.

Clause 20.—We have amended this clause to make it clear that the rules made under the Ordinance shall be deemed to be rules under this Act. We have made some consequential amendments in clause 6.

5. The Bill was published in the Gazette of India, dated the 15th September 1926.

4. We think that the Bill has not been or allowed to be required for consideration, and we recommend that it be passed as now amended.

The above are some of the major amendments. I will suggest the House to make some giving their support to the Bill. These do not in any way diminish upon the necessity of amended provisions if we for which these prices are attached.

From the fundamental principle, the provisions go very much beyond the suggestion and requirements of the war. The provisions are far more comprehensive, far more extensive and far more extensive than the original provisions of the Bill of 1912. In 1912 there were no provisions for the maintenance of the Bill in any part of India. It was only in the case of the Government of India that the provisions were made. In 1912 there were no provisions for the maintenance of the Bill in any part of India. It was only in the case of the Government of India that the provisions were made. measures for which the Central Government themselves are empowered to make rules. But only then, even a single individual, whether a public servant or not is provided with that sustained power, such a power may not given by the Act of 1938. The position is that the Legislature delegates the power to the Central Government and the Central Government in its turn delegates the power to any single individual. Yet no reason has been furnished for this substantial departure from the Act which gave extraordinary powers to the Executive to deal with the national situation then prevailing in India. I do not propose to concentrate here the individual powers which are mainly secret, and which under the cloak of a war measure are calculated to take serious notice upon the primary rights of citizens and which may be abused by the irresponsible bureaucracy to put down not constitutional activities in prosecution of the Indian movement and the movement for the emancipation of the economic structure of our country.

The Defence of India Ordinance, 1939, is hereby repealed; and any rules made, anything done and any action taken in exercise of the powers conferred by or under the said Ordinance shall be deemed to have been done or taken in exercise of powers conferred by or under this Act as if this Act had commenced on the last day of September 1939.

4. In any instance the evidence of a child under 7 years of age shall not be admissible at all Section 20 of the Indian Penal Code with section 30 of the same which contemplates a child under 7 years of age as an offence done by him and that provision is based on the presumption that he has not attained any measure of understanding the nature and consequences of his conduct. Thus the existence of such a child is presumed that he does not understand the nature of the questions put to him, nor is he able to give an exact answer. The full child therefore is restricted to a child under 7 years of age and above 7 years.

It is a child who is brought without an adult or other person to the attention of the police, and a child who is brought to the attention of the police by a person who is not a parent or guardian of the child, shall be treated as a child in need of protection.

4. In the case of a child witness, from the very fact that he is of tender years, there should be an inquiry as to such a witness's capacity for not speaking the truth. Therefore the FBI should be awarded for securing the best words of the witness in that effect.

3. The provisions of section 114 of the Indian Evidence Act make a child a competent witness only when he understands the question put to him and gives relevant answers. A provision like this should be made clear in the Bill in respect of a child whom the Court decides to give no weight at all.

2. A provision should be made that a child's evidence should not be acceptable unless he is interviewed in material paragraphs. My suggestions deal with single cases, leave the question which are reviewed on the evaluation of the trial.

Under the International Convention relating to the Regulation of Aerial Navigation, 1919, India has certain obligations and obligations to fulfil. She has, for instance, under Article 21 of the Convention, undertaken to adopt measures to ensure that aircraft bearing Indian registration marks wherever they may be shall comply with certain regulations. As the application of the Indian Aircraft Act, 1934, is however limited to British India, it cannot be applied to aircraft registered in British India where outside British India territory. Clause 2 and 3 of the Bill seek to amend the Indian Aircraft Act, 1934, so as to extend the application of the Act to all aircraft registered in British India and to persons therein wherever they may be.

3. Section 2 of the Act gives power to the Central Government to make regulations by notification from the provisions of the Act and the Rules made thereunder. This is a convenient procedure so far as exemption from the Rules is concerned and it is proposed to clause 3 to amend the section so as to extend the power of exemption conferred thereby to exemptions from the provisions of the Act made. It is provided that where exemption from the provisions of the Rules is required, this should be given by general or special order made under the Rules themselves.

3. High structures of other character, such as chimneys or air-pipes constitute a danger to aircraft. This danger is accentuated at night and, with the introduction of night flying, the necessity of adequately marking and lighting such structures has become urgent. The powers of the Government of India under section 4 (a) (i) of the Indian Aircraft Act, 1914, are inadequate in this respect. It is therefore proposed in clause 4 to amend the Act so as to confer on Government the power to make rules for the purpose (here set out). As the clause indicates, the intention is that the Central Government should define the kind of marking and maintaining the lights.

4. Extracts from the rules Act, giving the provisions which it is proposed to amend, are appended.

A. G. CLOW.

Secy,
The 25 September 1929.

PROVISIONS OF THE INDIAN AIRCRAFT ACT, 1914.

Section 1—(1) This Act may be cited the Indian Aircraft Act, 1914.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, including British Baluchistan and the District of Peshawar.

Section 2—The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, exempt from the provisions of this Act and of the rules made thereunder, or from any of such provisions, any aircraft or class of aircraft and any person or class of persons, or may direct that such provisions shall apply to such aircraft or person subject to such modifications as may be specified in the notification.

Section 3—(1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules regulating the construction, maintenance, use, operation, sale, disposal or export of any aircraft or class of aircraft.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for—

- (a) the supply, improvement and control of aeroplanes, balloons, aerostats, lights, and light signals in the neighbourhood of aerodromes or on or in the neighbourhood of aerodromes,

Section 7—(1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules providing for the introduction of any aircraft or class of or in the course of air navigation in or over British India.

Bill to amend the Police (Amendment) Act, 1929	—	—	—	—	174

Bill to be introduced in the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Madras.

Under the proviso to rule 73 of the Madras Assembly Rules, the following Bill together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons is published for general information :—

A Bill further to amend the Madras City Police Act, 1888, for a certain purpose.

WHEREAS It is expedient further to amend the Madras City Police Act, 1888, for the purpose hereinafter appearing ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

1. This Act may be called the Madras City Police (Amendment) Act, 1929.

2. For clause iv of section 71 of the Madras City Police Act, 1888, the following clause shall be substituted, namely :—

“iv. Whoever drives, steers or pushes any vehicle without sufficient light between such hours after sunset and before sunrise as may be notified from time to time by the Provincial Government.”

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The rules made under the Madras Traffic Control Act, 1939 (Madras Act V of 1939) and those made under the Traffic Motor Vehicles Act, 1914 (VIII of 1914), provide that light should be exhibited on vehicles up to half an hour before sunrise. Section 71 (j) of the Madras City Police Act, 1948 (Madras Act III of 1948) as it now stands, however requires lights to be carried only up to one hour before sunrise. The Government consider that this discrepancy should be removed. The Bill accordingly provides for the amendment of section 71 (j) of the Madras City Police Act, so as to require lights to be carried on vehicles between such hours after sunset and before sunrise as may be notified from time to time by the Government. This will enable the Government to remove the discrepancy mentioned above. It may be added that section 71 (j) as amended is in subtle terms and will enable the Government to make such modifications in the lighting rules as they may from time to time find necessary.
